FARMERS WIN FIRST.

Score a Point in Contest With the Railroads.

The mandamus action in the supreme court by the Farmers' Shipping asso-clation to compel the Santa Fe to lease t elevator sites or furnish adequate hipping facilities at three points where t is doing business, has been filed in the supreme court. Chief Justice Johnston has allowed an alternative writ, rethe supreme court. Chief Justice Johnston has allowed an alternative writ, returnable at the April sitting of the supreme court.

This action is the result of the decision of the state board of rallroad commissioners that it has no power to act in the matter. The Farmers' association asked that the Santa Fe be compelled to lease it a site for an elevator at each of three of its shipping points, Abbeyville, Spearville and Zenith. The Farmers' association brought a suit similar to this one in the Nebraska supreme court some time ago against the Burlington, but the railroad company came to time and granted everything the Farmers' company asked for.

The Farmers' Shipping association is virtually a line elevator company with the farmers as stockholders, and there are several thousand of them. At Billings, Okla., alone there are over three hundred members of the association. It does business in Oklahoma, Kansas and

During the first six months it did builties the association handled a million and a quarter bushels of grain and accumulated profits amounting to almost 11,000 on a paid-up capital of $14,000. During the first six months it did buainess the association handled a million and a quarter bushels of grain and accumuated profits amounting to almost $14,000 on a paid-up capital of $74,000. And it is asserted that at nearly every point it raised the price of grain paid to farmers from three to five cents a bushel over the price paid before the farmers' elevators opened.

The Syndicate Oil & Gas company in east trend of the Chanute district, four miles east of Chanute. Capital one milion dollars, par value of shares 20 cents. The land will carry 60 wells. Two wells and another drilling. No stock yet sold. Price per share, three cents.

Home Stake Oil & Gas Co. has 80 acres in famous north Chanute district one mile north and a half mile east of Chanute. Capital, five hundred thousand dollars; par value of shares, 20 cents. Six wells in, pumping plant installed, tanks and derricks up. Five hundred barrels of oil in the tanks awaiting councetion with the Standard pipe lines. Price of stock, 5 cents per share.

With average development each one of the foregoing properties will pay 15 per cent on capital stock. The capitalization of the companies each having been determined by prospective development, but the investor is getting Klondike at one-sixteenth par value: Syndicate at one-tenth, and Home Stake at one-fourth.

One share of each will cost nine and one-quarter cents, and either will self for 16 cents within six months with successful development of the property. Home Stake has passed the speculative period, and the stock will be advanced to eight or ten cents within thirty days, so that the purchaser who buys at once will get three stocks for what in 30 days from now will be the price of one. Should all three properties develop successfully the investment would pay three, four, five or six fold. If one property develops successfully the investment and then make more money than in anything else offered in Kansas.

DEAR FRIENDS

Don't be deceived; it's not yet spring, but it will come soon, and it would be a good lifea to look up your light weight duds and send them to "Chivers." Now, you have a last year's suit that can be cleaned up to look as good as new. Then there is the other suit—that is faded. We can transform that into a spanking branch new suit for a small sum. How is that? You say you had a suit dyed once, and you'll never have another one done. It was winkled and the color rubbed off. Oh, well, my friend, you got into the wrong shop. Besides, that was not dyeing. It was simply "killing." A man must know something of the business to do work right. Some people have a notten that having failed at everything they have attempted, they can start a dye works and know all about cleaning and dyeing in 15 minutes. Won't do. And TOO LATE the LUCKLESS customer finds that out to his sorrow. Dyeing and cleaning are both an art and a science. Chivers' dye works has been before the public nearly half a century, always studying, always improving. They still find lots to learn. How then can an inexperienced person be expected to donice work? Better send your duds to "CHIVERS," cat-a-corner across from the Auditorium. Bell 'phone 809. Independent 1625.
